Clean-Up Report Due Next Week

by Virginia Beauchamp

A final complete report, financial and otherwise, of the Clean-Up Drive just concluded will be made public next week, Robert Mogel, Chairman of the drive, has announced. Included in the report will be a tally of projects reported and completed, Mogel promises. By Friday, May 16, a pictorial record of the drive will have been completed as well and will be arranged for display.

Especially active in the final phases of the drive have been the children of the Center School. Each room has prepared a written summary of the projects which they had undertaken, including the planning, their activities, and a description of what has been accomplished. In addition, Mrs. Gertrude Yeager's third grade group formed a clean-up parade, marching with brooms, rakes, banners, and posters. Pictures of this parade will be on display in the municipal center after Friday.

A number of complaints of eyesores around town were called in to Chairman Mogel, not all of which have as yet been acted upon. "It looks as though the clean-up activities will continue for some time, even though the drive is officially over," Mogel stated hopefully. "In our first attempt at a city-wide campaign," he continued, "the results have been very pleasing." But clean-up must be a continuing process, he pointed out. If neighbors are disturbed by another resident's littering of their court area, they have a right, according to the city ordinances, to report the situation to the police. In some cases, Mogel suggested, this may have to be done.

Silvers AVC Official

Five Washington area residents, including one from Greenbelt, have been named to top offices in the American Veterans Committee (AVC), it was announced by William R. Ming, AVC National Chairman.

Andrew E. Rice, of Washington, formerly Executive Assistant to Sen. William Proxmire, of Wisconsin, has been appointed Acting National Executive Director. Gilbert A. Harrison, of Washington Editor and Publisher of The New Republic, was named as Chairman of the AVC International Affairs Commission. R. Hal Silvers, of Greenbelt, Civil Defense Director for Prince Georges County, was re-elected as National Secretary, and Phineas Indritz of Silver Spring, Counsel to Public Works and Resources Sub-Committee of the House Government Operations Committee, was elected Special Counsel. Named to the AVC National Board, in addition to Birkhead and Indritz, was Dr. Paul Cooke, Professor of English at D. C. Teachers College.

NURSERY OPEN HOUSE

Interested parents and their three or four year olds are cordially invited to observe the Greenbelt Cooperative Nursery School, 14 Parkway, in session on Friday, May 16, between 9:30 and 10:30 a.m., according to Mrs. Helen Geller, President of the group. Parents will have a chance to look over the numerous indoor play facilities and enclosed outdoor play area.

ANNUAL SPRING DANCE

Bud Bobbick and his orchestra will play for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fire Department and Rescue Squad at their annual spring dance at the American Legion House, Saturday, May 24.

POLIO CLINIC

During the first Prince Georges Polio Clinic on May 12, 285 children were inoculated by Dr. Hans Wodak and Dr. William Weintraub.

Some of the residents who had registered failed to attend this Clinic due to illness or other reasons. (The News Review inadvertently printed May 19 as the date of the clinic in the headline, although the body of the story and What Goes On indicated May 12.)

These people will be eligible to receive their injection in the next Polio Clinic which will be scheduled in approximately 4 or 5 weeks.

Watch for the time and place, to be announced later in this paper.

Ground Breaking At Baptist Church Sunday

If it does not rain, the ground breaking service of the Greenbelt Baptist Church will be held on the church property, Crescent and Greenhill, on Sunday, May 18 at 3 p.m.

The service will begin by singing one stanza of "The Church's Is One Foundation" after which William A. Snyder will lead in the invocation. Dr. James T. McCarl, building committee chairman, will bring words of welcome and give a brief history of the building program. He will introduce Mayor Thomas J. Canning who will make a presentation of a new shovel as the custom has been in Greenbelt for ground breaking ceremonies. The mayor will be the first person to use the new shovel and will in turn introduce members of the city council and city manager, Charles T. McDonald. Each one will have an opportunity to display their spade work.

Dr. McCarl will present G. Truman Ward, AIA, architect and C. M. Hale, the building contractor.

Rev. Glenn W. Samuelson, pastor, will introduce the ministers or representatives of the Greenbelt churches. Mr. Clifford Carter, president of the D. C. Baptist Convention, will bring appropriate greetings and also assist in ground digging.

Dr. Walter A. Pegg, C. V. Koons, and Charles Bartlett will represent the Metropolitan Baptist Church, Washington, D. C. which formerly sponsored the Greenbelt Baptist Church.

Dr. William J. Crowder, the first pastor, will offer a prayer of dedication followed by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and the benediction will be given by Rev. Glenn W. Samuelson.

Those who attend may have the opportunity to use the shovel. After the service a group picture will be taken.

Construction will start within a few days after the ground breaking service. If it rains, the service will be held Sunday afternoon, May 25 at 3 p.m.

Dancing will be from 9 o'clock until ? Refreshments will be sold, and pizza, everyone's favorite, will be the menu for the evening.

Call Mrs. Robinson GR 4-7363, or Mrs. Madson, GR 3-3366 for reserved tables.

North End Drill Team

Last weekend Greenbelt North End won the most coveted award in the National AAA Safety Patrol Parade in Washington, the Clark Griffith Memorial Trophy. It came as a complete surprise when the announcement of the winner was made. North End's color guard, majorettes and the two drill teams, except for the officers, were already back in Greenbelt. The officers were sitting across the street from the judges' stand waiting for an announcement on the winners in the state award contest. When the announcement was made that the North End School had won the Clark Griffith Memorial Trophy, Dickie Klein and Alice Goldberg waded thru the crowd to the judges' stand where they received the award. The happy kids were interviewed by reporters and had their pictures taken. Mr. Goldberg, who had been taking movies of our boys and girls along the parade route, had earlier used all his film. The baseball float, which appeared in the Sunday Star, was pulled by Mike Youell and Harold Goldberg. Our majorettes, Delores Merritt, Kathy Walter, Janet Fox and Brenda Hodges added additional color to the parade unit.

On Friday evening in the National Drill Team Competition at Fort Myer, Va. North End Girl's Drill Team placed second again this year. The winner was Pottstown, Pa. The Girl's were led by Co-captain, Alice Goldberg. The members are Clarice Rowe, Sandy Ciatto, Dorothy Kendall, Judy Bragonjie, Janet Heiber, Cathy Hoffman, Bonnie Boykoff, Karen and Pam Archambo, Sue Martin, Rachelle Chasoff, Barbara Stratton, Sophia Abramovitz, Susan King, Barbara Chottnier, Isabell Giorno, Judy Canaday and Chery Meier.

The boy's drill team led by Co-captain Dickie Klein, competing in the toughest category, did not place among the top 3. Their division was won by Painesville, Ohio; Jacksonville, Fla. was 2nd and Jacksonville Beach, Fla. was 3rd. The boy's drill team members are: George Clinedinst, Todd Leasia, Jimmy Rackleff, Ronnie Rowe, Ronnie Newkirk, Joel Garner, Alan Vaughn, Paul Lentz, Milton Harris, Mickey Johnson, Lowell and Don Billings, Jay Smith, Jay Coleman, Mark Ruddy, Ronnie Wolf, Richard Beaver, Irwin Abramovitz. Both teams did extremely well in competing against the best safety patrol drill teams in the country. Competition was keen and the military personnel from the U. S. Army's Honor Guard, who were judging the competition, were very fair in the judgment.

New Land Agreement Takes Effect; GHI Changes Fire Insurance Policy

by Al Skolnik

The decision of Continental Construction Company (a subsidiary of Warner-Kanter) not to pay by May 1, 1958 the third annual installment of $26,200 due on the sale of the vacant land has automatically put into effect other arrangements regarding the payment schedule, it was revealed at last Friday's meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc.

These other arrangements call for the elimination of yearly installments on the $113,000 still owed GHI and payment instead to GHI of 50 percent of the release price of any parcels of land released from the mortgage, by Public Housing Administration until the $113,000 is paid up.

The new agreement also specifies that once GHI is paid off, restriction contained in the original contract with respect to land development will be relinquished. Among these conditions are retention of 50 percent of the trees and adherence to the Greenbelt master plan with respect to park and recreation areas.

Presumably, these new arrangements will not apply to the negotiation between CCC and J. Wesley Buchanan & Sons, who is contracting to develop the area formerly known as Green Valley subdivision, since that land has already been released from the mortgage.

Incidentally, director Frank Lastner disclosed that as of May 2, the sales contract between CCC and Buchanan has not yet been consummated. It was his understanding, after talking to John H. Pettit, general manager for Buchanan, that the delay was not due to any disagreement over the provisions of the contract, but to the mechanics of getting everyone's signatures on the contract.

Lastner stated that Pettit was impressed by the future potential of the Greenbelt area and indicated to him that he would attempt to preserve the character of Greenbelt's setting with its trees and park areas.

In connection with the land development, a GHI committee consisting of directors Hans Jorgensen and Frank Kriby and GHI superintendent Dave Kane recommended that Hillside rd. and the proposed Greenhill rd. running through the new subdivision not be joined. Greenhorn and O'Mara, surveying engineers for Buchanan, had reported that the terrain would not permit a satisfactory juncture of the two roads unless some extensive leveling of the terrain was undertaken. The board approved the recommendation of the committee, for forwarding to the city manager.

Fire Insurance

The board authorized management to proceed with the purchasing of GHI's fire and extended coverage insurance from Firemen's Mutual Insurance Company after receiving written assurance from the Company that GHI property was insurable at the valuation assumed in its original bid and that no engineering problems existed to make the present property unacceptable as an insurance risk.

The new policy will be written for a blanket amount of $7,845,000 (70% of estimated value of GHI property) without any coinsurance requirement.

Firemen's Mutual won out in the competitive bidding last February over Nationwide Mutual which has carried the insurance since GHI took over from Public Housing Administration in January 1953. The present policy with Nationwide, which still has over 4 years to run, will be canceled out. The new policy is expected to save the corporation approximately $17,000 over a 5-year period.

Assignment of Contracts

The board received the report of its attorney, Mrs. Helen Ditman, respecting assignment of mutual ownership contracts as security for personal loans. Mrs. Ditman stated that nothing in the contract prevents its assignment and such assignment is not inconsistent with the corporation's by-laws. The contract negotiated between GHI and First Mutual Investment Company permits such assignment apparently not only for financing down payments and home improvements, but also for consolidation of debts.

She pointed out that some troublesome problems might arise in cases where a GHI member defaults on a loan, but continues to pay his monthly charges. Under the FMIC contract, GHI might be obligated to foreclose.

Treasurer Lloyd Moore raised the question of who would have first priority on any proceeds from a forced sale. Roy Breashears, acting GHI manager during the illness of John O. Walker, stated his belief that GHI would always have first call on such proceeds. Director George Eshbaugh stated his understanding that loan agencies, such as the Credit Union, use the assignment not for purposes of foreclosing but merely to protect themselves in case a member in default tries to sell his property and leave town without paying his debts.

Band Offers Summer Instruction Course

Greenbelt children are being offered a summer program of musical instruction for beginning instrumentalists sponsored by the Greenbelt Community Band. It is expected that lessons will start the week following the close of school and continue through August. Interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Imogene J. McCarthy, GR. 3-4321.

The instructor will be Don Smith, who is Director of both the Greenbelt Band and the High Point High School Band. Smith will teach the children in small groups playing similar instruments—as brass-wind, wood-wind, and percussion. This will give the pupils the stimulation of group work while enabling the instructor to observe and guide each one's progress.

The charge to the child will be $1.00 per lesson per week. Because the Band will benefit in future strength from the program, the officers of the board have voted to have the Band pay costs of program not met by this small fee.

The Band offers a further saving to parents in that there are some band-owned instruments which will be issued on loan to beginners on a first-come, first-served basis. If there is sufficient demand beyond this supply, Smith will make arrangements for rentals from a music store.

RECEPTION FOR HULLS

Last Sunday afternoon a reception was given the Social Hall of the Community Church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. R. C. Hull in connection with Mr. Hull's retirement from the position of Associate Minister of the church. In addition to many members and friends of the church there were present two of the Hulls' sons, their wives, Bruce Hull of Arlington, Va., and Dayton Hull, formerly of Greenbelt, now of Kensington, Md. Two of Dayton's sons were present, and also on hand was Bruce's son and his wife and two children. A letter from Rev. Eric T. Braund was read, expressing his appreciation of Mr. Hull's services while he was Mr. Braund's Assistant. A check for a substantial amount was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Hull as a memento of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Hull plan to continue to live in Greenbelt.

The Missing Parents

The Case of the Missing Parents, it turns out, is not confined to Greenbelt. Not fiction, unfortunately, but a true story, it is occurring and recurring in towns and cities all across the nation. In neighboring Montgomery County, Juvenile Court Judge Alfred D. Noyes scored parents who absent themselves from their own homes while their children are holding parties. Such lack of chaperonage, which leads to "party hopping" and party crashing, also leads directly to many juvenile law violations, Judge Noyes pointed out. In nearby Langley Park in Prince Georges County a youth program had to be discontinued because of the failure of adults to take on the requisite chaperonage duties.

That things are different in Greenbelt—that the teen dances are still going strong—is due not to the participation of mothers and fathers of the young people attending the dances but to the resourceful planning of Recreation Director Warren Leddick. Early last fall Leddick invited representatives from the various service organizations in the community to form what is known as the Recreation Coordinating Committee. On a monthly basis, each of these service organizations, working through the committee, has undertaken to provide chaperones for the teen dances. In this way, the problem of finding the necessary adult supervision has been circumvented.

But Leddick himself would be the first to insist that it has not been solved. During the course of the entire year's program of dances, only one set of parents from the teen-age group have actually volunteered as chaperones, lending substance to the charge more and more often being heard that far too many parents are interested only in baby sitting services for their children. Parents truly interested in the kind of program being offered would come down to find out about it. Parents truly grateful to city administrators enlightened enough to provide a recreation program for young people would themselves express their appreciation through the kind of action that counts—taking a fair share of responsibility for that program's success.

David Schurr, 31-D Ridge, was co-chairman of Engineer's Day at the University of Pennsylvania, where he is a junior. Schurr, a graduate of Greenbelt Junior High School and Northwestern High School, is an electrical engineering major.

Cerebral Palsy Dinner Honors Mascot Rusty

"The Smartest Dog in Prince Georges County" received with aplomb a special citation conferring upon him the title of Official Mascot for the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Prince Georges County.

As official mascot, Rusty, performing dog owned and trained by Dave Ginsberg, Lust Theatres manager, rode atop the Cerebral Palsy station wagon in the Lions' Pageant of Progress held in Bladensburg, Saturday, May 3. He was a star of stars as he rode in the parade, wearing his "silks" in the national UCP colors of red, white and blue.

Rusty received his official title and was awarded the citation and gold-starred drinking dish at the April 30 kick-off campaign dinner of United Cerebral Palsy in Prince Georges.

The Honorable Emmett H. Nanna, Jr., Campaign Chairman, awarded the citation to Rusty.

The campaign was formally opened when Judge Nanna presented a check to Robert T. Ketner, Association President.

North End Kids Travel

By Barbara Skolnik, Age - 10

The 4th, 5th, and 6th grades of the North End School visited the B & O Railroad Friday, May 9. Accompanied by 4 teachers, some room mothers and the principal, they left by 9 o'clock and were home by 3 o'clock. Two buses were used to transport the students to Baltimore.

They first visited the B & O museum where they saw models of old trains. In the roundhouse the children went through some of the passenger cars. They next went to Fort McHenry where a guide showed them soldiers' barracks, and dungeons, and explained about the War of 1812 and the writing of the Star Spangled Banner.

The final stop was the docks of the B & O railroad. One of the ships docked had come from Honduras with bananas. Of great interest were the cranes loading and unloading cargo. All the children enjoyed the trip to Baltimore.

PACK 746 - DEN 6

Den Mother: Mrs. Judy Weiner

Last Wednesday evening, Den 6 had a very interesting trip to the Waldorf Nike Site, 75th AAA. It was very informative and interesting to the Cubs. The Cubs were fed ice cream, cake and milk in the Mess Hall. They were then shown the control center and the launching site. At the launching site we were allowed to ride the elevator down into the underground storage depot where the extra Nikes are stored. After coming topside, a Nike was raised to firing position for our inspection.

CORRECTION

We regret that a line was omitted from the article last week on the North End Homemakers' Club. Left out was the information that the Club had raised $100 through the sale of tickets for the Gary Ford Fund, augmenting this amount with a gift of $25 from their own treasury.

Pack 746

By Smoky Stover

A very few weeks ago the monthly Pack meeting was held at the Methodist church. There were parents in the audience. The Cubs were told that if they did not bring one parent to the Pack Meeting (which is held in the Methodist Church the fourth Wednesday of every month at 7:30 p.m. sharp) they might as well stay home, too.

The Theme of the Month was "Keep America Beautiful". Several of the dens had some very fine displays. It sometimes amazes your Cubmaster just how much these Cubs can do with a little help and encouragement from their Den Mother's and Dad's.

The following awards were made: Larry Robinson - Wolf Badge; Steven King - Gold Arrow.

Saturday the Cubs journeyed to Baltimore on the Capitol City Limited. For many it was their first train ride. Needless to say excitement ran rampant on that trip. After getting to Baltimore, the Cubs, led by Mr. Helwig, toured the B&O Train Museum. They arrived home tired but happy at 5 p.m.

MADDEN WINS

A. M. Madden of 133 Centerway, Greenbelt, Maryland, was the leading writer of casualty insurance in 1957 for Nationwide Mutual Insurance Company of Columbus, Ohio. He topped the entire agency force of more than 4,000 from 17 states, according to Dean W. Jeffers, vice president of Sales.

Mr. Madden will receive a trophy in recognition of his 1957 achievement. He has been a Nationwide representative for 16 years.

Near East Visitors

The City of Greenbelt was host Tuesday, May 6, to a group of about fifteen Moslem women, in the United States for a conference. These women, mostly from the Near East, had been brought to the Washington area by several members of the League of Women Voters, who drove them down from N. Y. Sponsored in the District area by the Potomac Cooperative Federation, the group toured Greenbelt Homes, Inc., and Greenbelt Consumer Services.

Before leaving on their return trip to N. Y., the visitors and their drivers were entertained by a group of women from the Community Church. They showed particular interest in a group of junior high school girls who assisted in serving them tea and sandwiches, asking them to put on a "jitterbug" demonstration. The girls, in turn, were interested in the sari worn by one of the visitors.

Troop 202

On April 26 and 27, a few of the more inexperienced scouts of Troop 202 went on an overnight camping trip to Trap Pond State Park at Laurel, Delaware, with Mr. Ted Dalbow, neighborhood commissioner, and Mr. F. Barry Coggins, scoutmaster.

Weather was with the group most of the time except on the return trip Sunday. There was one casualty - Alan Levine, who suffered an axe wound on his leg. The other scouts witnessed first aid in the rough as a result of this unfortunate accident.

All in all, everyone seemed to have a good time. The next overnight trip will be held in May when the troop will experience some camping in the mountainous area of Pennsylvania. The more experienced scouts will go on this trip, as it requires more skill in the out-of-doors.

The Big Sport

By Murray Green

"Now 'tis the spring, and weeds are shallow-rooted, Suffer them now, and they'll o'er-grow the garden"

Will Shakespeare—not the fellow who flashed off tackle for Notre Dame a score of years ago, nor ever watched a baseball game—accurately described a process of non-sufferance which, after a month of the 1958 season, is restoring normalcy to both major leagues.

It has been a typical vernal season with a bumper crop of shallow-rooted bloomers that found the dandy, lionized San Francisco Giants, and the suddenly non-hibernating Chicago Cubs wreaking havoc in one league; while the buckthorn Washington Senators and sprouting Athletics busted out all over in the other. Within the past week, however, the Cubs and Athletics have been power-mowed into submission, and Washington absorbed a dose of Nat-killer up in Yankee Stadium.

Before too long, those Giants will be trying to flourish on alien Eastern soil, and we may expect them to respond in kind to heavy applications of that which made Milwaukee famous—we mean the Braves, of course.

Despite these drastic correctives the major league garden retains a bit of an abnormal look about it. The strangest flora we've seen are the Chicago White Sox and the St. Louis Cardinals for whom the early going has been not much fauna. The other day we were amused by what purported to be the inside story of how Al Lopez had finally discovered the secret of cuckolding Casey Stengel out of his eternal romance with the American League pennant. The secret strategy for 1958, the slick magazine let on, was to stock the Sox with long-time Yankee-beaters. Ray Moore and Early Wynn were joined in a conspiratorial combination with other sterling operatives such as Billy Pierce, Dick Donovan, Bob Keegan, and Jim Wilson, by which the Sox figured to cow the Bronx Bombers before they took the field. Somehow, someone neglected to calculate the negative psychological effects caused by the loss of 150 plus RBIs knocked home last year by Larry Doby and Minnie Minoso. Perhaps Lopez' amanuensis will divulge that secret in the next issue to the doughty manager of the Pale Hose. The way the modern "Hitless Wonders" of Comiskey Park are going right now, they would settle for their customary bridesmaid tight role behind the Yankees instead of languishing in the dank cellar.

Meanwhile over in the other league fretful Freddie Hutchinson has also been managing St. Louis into the basement. Despite the stellar performance of Musial who is batting a mere .480—Stan the Man usually slumps in the spring—the Redbirds have suffered from jittery defense and management of the same calibre. Out on the Coast recently the Cardinals were beaten by the Los Angeles Dodgers, not exactly world-beaters themselves this year.

In San Francisco they really came a cropper. One night, Lindy McDaniel owned a 6-1 lead in the 7th frame Hutchinson inserted the hook and brought in Larry Jack-

Annual Co-op Workshop

The 69-member Co-op Congress began with the "annual workshop" on May 2-4 at historic Carvel Hall in Annapolis to fulfill its responsibilities to the 15,000 co-op members. Sessions began with dinner on Friday evening and culminated with the formal business meeting on Sunday.

Mr. Walter Bierwagen, president of the cooperative for the past ten years and former Greenbelt resident, announced his resignation from the board of directors to become effective at the close of the workshop. Mr. Bierwagen stated his resignation was due to a possible conflict of interest, since his union is negotiating with the co-op to lease the Takoma drug store for a health center.

On Sunday the congress delegates discharged one of their most important obligations to the membership by nominating from among their number the five most qualified people in their view to serve on the board of directors for the ensuing two years: Robert Hull, Greenbelt; Lawrence Oosterhous, Takoma Park; Edward Weinberg, Takoma Park; Donald Cooper, Wheaton; and Robert Bonham, Rockville.

Poetry

When did you cease to care
That which so important was
Has lost its value all too soon
And now stands bleakly bare.

Does it matter what or whom
How tragic-metamorphosis,
When what was loved
No longer finds its room—

son when the Giants filled the bases with two outs. The Cards blew the ball-game 8-6. The following night, St. Louis lost one that they won't forget for a long time. Jumping to a 5-0 lead at the start, they took a 6-2 lead into the 8th inning. Again the Giants filled the sacks with two away. With the count of 1 and 1 one on pinch-hitter Jabbo Jablonski, Manager Hutchinson inexplicably yanked Sam Jones. Jablonski hit one, after which some semi-anonymous relievers by the names of Paine, Martin, and Clark managed to lose the ball game in the 9th by a 9-7 score. Still on another night, Mizell had the Chicago Cubs beaten by 3-1 in the 8th inning. Hutchinson thought this would be an opportunity to get still more runs and took Vinegar Bend out for a pinch hitter. Relievers Larry Jackson and Billy Muffett blew another, 6-3.

Unlike the White Sox, the Redbirds are notoriously slow starters. Last year, after losing 5 out of the first 7, they came back to tussle the Braves for the flag. In 1947, after winning a pennant the year before, they lost 9 straight to open the season. In 1943, after administering the only ignominious World Series defeat ever suffered by the Yankees in modern times (the Birds sat on Joe DiMaggio and Company in five games), they lost 8 of their first 10 games.

So, don't quit on the Cardinals, or on Silky Sullivan who, at the upcoming Preakness, we are persuaded to believe, will give a better account of himself than he did in the "Run for the Roses."

LICENSE RENEWALS

If your last name begins with A, B, or C, and if you have a Maryland driver's permit, you should have received in the mail an application for the renewal of your license, say local police.

If you have not received this application, write immediately and request an application from the COMMISSIONER OF MOTOR VEHICLES, GUILFORD AVENUE AND 21st STREET, BALTIMORE 18, MD., or your license will expire. No driver's test is required. Simply fill in the application, have it notarized, and enclose a dollar.

The licenses of those drivers whose last name begins with D, E, or F will expire December 31, 1958. This license renewal program will continue through the alphabet in order that the state can clean its files of licenses for people who no longer operate motor vehicles. Until now the state of Maryland issued licenses good for the life of a driver. If the driver moved out of the state or died, the state had no record of this change. Consequently, the files of licenses have become huge and in need of revision.

NURSES SYMPOSIUM

District no. 3 of the Maryland State Nurses Association has planned a symposium to be held on May 23, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Riverdale Heights Firehouse, 6101 Roanoke Road, East Riverdale, Maryland, to which all nurses in this area are invited.

Subject of the program will be "Therapeutic Radiation," with the following speakers participating:

James Burns, M.D., Pathologist, who will talk on the "Use of Radioactive Isotopes"; Alfred J. Suraci, M.D., Plastic Surgeon, who will speak on "Repair and Medical Care of Deep Radiation Burns"; William R. Sticker, M.D., Roentgenologist, who will discuss "Radiation in X-ray Therapy"; and Mrs. Katherine Bulkeley, Public Health Nurse Consultant, Maryland State Department of Health, who will talk on "Public Health Nursing."

Registration will be from 9-9:30 a.m. There will be no fee. Luncheon by reservation.

For further information please call one of the following committee members: Mrs. Margaret Pear, AP 7-5725; Mrs. Doris Stoner, UN 4-0210; Mrs. Bertha Pickeral, UN 4-0050.

WHEELS AND AXLES

The Friends' Meeting of Adelphi has undertaken to sponsor a cottage of teen-age boys at Boys' Village, Cheltenham. At Easter time, 7 families participated in a get-acquainted afternoon and egg-hunt. The boys were eager to show their talents. The Meeting families gained a new understanding of these underprivileged boys.

Now they are seeking help in collecting all manner of wheels and axles so the boys can construct soapbox derbies. Anyone with contributions or ideas, please contact Edith Stackhouse, GR. 4-6638.
